HOLDUPS GRAB LOS ANGELES MEN WHO THOUGHT WERE POLICE

Complaints regarding the unlawful interference of state police with travelers coming to and leaving Tonopah are becoming more numerous. Saturday night the Bonanza office was visited by a couple of mining men from Los Angeles who had been to the Simon lead mines making investments and who narrated an experience that will probably suggest to others the necessity of arming themselves to prevent a repetition of the experience. The visitors said they had been stopped twice on the road between Millers and Tonopah. The first time the men calling a halt displayed badges stating they were state police engaged in looking for bootleggers and proceeded without further explanation to search the car for traces of contraband. Nothing was found and the car was permitted to proceed. Some distance nearer town near the Verdi Lumber company yards, two other men sprang out from the darkness of the roadside and ordered the driver to come to a stop. The second party then proceeded to relieve the travelers of whatever valuables they had winding up by taking the loose change remaining with them. This amounted to about $10. American Bankers Association checks representing a considerable sum were not touched as the hold-ups evidently believed they would be traced if they attempted to cash them.

The victims of the stickup say they were led to believe the bandits were state police or they would never have stopped so readily at a summons from strangers. The gentlemen said they had to continue to Los Angeles to keep an important business engagement, but on returning, they said, four men would occupy the car and each would carry a shotgun amendment law as voted for by a loaded with buckshot and would shoot to kill any party that made a

THE BEST STOCK TO BUY

It is in the character building institution known as the church. We have 130 children regularly enrolled also a splendid young peoples society of Christian Endeavor. This is the place of high ideals. How many shares have you in it? The Community Presbyterian Church is sadly in need of improvements. Won't you help?

PARENTS INVITED TO VISIT ART CLASSES

The art classes of the Tonopah high school have on exhibit in the assembly room samples of their work for the year and tomorrow at 2:45 they will give a short entertainment in the same room. The exhibit is well worth seeing and patrons of the school are cordially invited to avail themselves of this opportunity to see what the art classes have accomplished. Miss Mamie Sullivan is the teacher of these classes.

MARRIED ON SUNDAY

Miss Alma Kyle, daughter of R. E. Kyle, manager of the local express agency, was married Sunday to James Clark of the Divide Grocery. The couple will make their home in Tonopah.

Dr. Taylor is now in Tonopah. Offices at the Golden Eagle Hotel.—Adv 3156
